STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

At St. Cloud, was established in 1869.—The Third in the State.

It occupies a picturesque site on the right bank of the Mississippi River, about sixty feet above the level of the water.

Its buildings consist of one large brick building, four stories high, and a large three story frame used as a ladies' home.

In students it has tributary to it a territory extending from the St. Croix to the Red River of the North, and from St. Paul to the Northern Pacific Railway.

It has two courses, an Elementary and an Advanced course.

THE ELEMENTARY

includes Academic work through the ordinary high school, with special training in methods and the art of teaching.

THE ADVANCED COURSE

includes Latin through Cicero and Virgil, laboratory practice in Chemistry, Trigonometry, Astronomy, and additional practice in teaching.

THE LADIES' HOME

is conducted on the family co-operative plan. Each Student does one half hour's work daily and pays her share in the cost of provision. The expenses of each student averages about $2.50 per week, for board, washing, room, fuel and lights.

The average attendance in the Normal department is about one hundred. In the model or practice school it is about sixty.

Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach at least two years in the State.

Its faculty consists of three gentlemen and five ladies. Further information may be obtained by addressing

ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, the capital of the great State of Minnesota, and the commercial metropolis of the Northwest, occupies a site which, 40 years ago, was the habitat of a few straggling squatters. To-day it is one of the most important cities in the Union, growing in riches and strength at a pace little short of marvelous, increasing in population by gigantic strides, and stretching out, in her commerce, to every land. Her history, if she may be said to have one, is of the briefest. The first settlement made upon her site was in 1838, while Congress was still discussing the ratification of the treaty by which the Ojibwas ceded for settlement the lands on the east bank of the Mississippi. Squatters took up claims on land which was then included in the military reservation of Fort Snelling. They were expelled by the military commandant in May, 1840, but took up new claims in the present lower part of the city. The same year Rev. Mr. Gualtier arrived from Dubuque, Ia., and established a Roman Catholic chapel, which he dedicated to St. Paul, and thus the settlement obtained its name. In 1846 a postoffice was established, in 1847 a town site was surveyed, the plat recorded, and the first hotel built. In 1849 Minnesota Territory was organized and St. Paul fixed as its capital. In November of the same year St. Paul was incorporated as a town and made the seat of Ramsey county, which was organized at the same time. In 1850 the census returns showed the population to be 1,294. In 1851 the town was permanently fixed as the State Capital and a State House ordered built on a site donated by Charles Bazille, an early settler. The town went ahead rapidly, as immigration poured in, and in 1854, when its population was about 5,000, was incorporated as a city. Real estate speculation became rife in 1856, as the city continued to grow, doubling its population in a few months. New hotels were opened, fine stores and residences built, a police force established, a city hall erected, and the first bridge commenced. In 1857 an effort was made to remove the capital to St. Peter. An act to this effect was passed in both houses of the Legislature, but was defeated by the dilatory action of an enrolling clerk. A similar measure, passed in 1869, removing the capital to some point in Kandiyohi county, was vetoed by Governor Marshall. The crash of 1857 wrought fearful havoc in St. Paul, precipitating distressing misery, reducing the reputedly rich to penury, putting a period to building and business operations, paralyzing trade, and largely reducing the population. Until the outbreak of the war of the rebellion, the abomination of desolation seemed to brood over St. Paul. The inflation of the war period turned the tide, however, and the city began to renew her promises of future greatness. To the war St. Paul contributed 1,470 men, 124 of whom perished on the field of patriotism, and out of her poverty she made liberal gifts to the Sanitary and Christian Commissions at work among the troops. After the war the city grew rapidly for several years. A paid fire department was established, four steamers purchased, and a board of works entrusted with the control of public improvements created, and in 1874 the city boundaries were changed so as to include West St. Paul. The census of 1875 gave the population as 33,178, and of Ramsey county as 36,846.

To-day St. Paul is 5 miles square, covering 25 superficial miles of territory, having one single street, Seventh, over 6 miles long. Her population, by the last official census, is 41,738, not including the outlying districts, which, if counted in, would swell the number to some 55,000 souls. She has 200 miles of streets and 5 bridges across the Mississippi, 40 miles of blocks of houses are numbered, 12 miles of gas and 14 miles of water mains are laid, 25 miles of fire alarm telegraph wire are strung, and she has all the appointments of first-class eastern cities of far greater pretentions. To attain to her present condition, she has cut down bluffs, filled up lakes, turned declivities which formerly separated the upper and the lower towns into gently graded ascents, and transformed wooded bottoms into a levee and terminal grounds for the passenger depots of the great railroads which make her the center of a network of steel highways.

St. Paul occupies a magnificent commercial position at the head of the navigation of the Mississippi. Until 1868 the river was her essential source of wealth, as the sole means of communication with the terminus of the eastern railroad system at Prairie du Chien or Dunleith, and prior to the construction of railroads across Illinois and Wisconsin, with Galena and St. Louis. Her importance as a commercial center largely determined the location of the original land grant roads, and though railroad transit has largely superseded the river in the carriage of freight, navigation is still an important factor in the commercial economy of St. Paul. The improvements which have been commenced by order of Congress, in obedience to the popular demand, to secure the deepening of the channel to 4 or 5 feet during the low water season between St. Paul and St. Louis, will restore the steamboat trade to its former prosperity and afford the Northwest an immense advantage by giving an outlet via St. Louis and New Orleans to the seaboard. In 1879—a very short navigable season—the Keokuk Northern Packet line delivered at St Paul 8,942 tons of freight and 2,124 head of horses, mules and cattle, and shipped thence 7,115 tons, including 56,155 bbls of flour. The Diamond Jo line delivered about 3,000 tons and shipped about 5,000 tons, including 25,000 bbls flour. Other boats from the St. Croix and Minnesota rivers probably received and delivered 1,000 tons of freight. The steamers carried thousands of summer tourists from the South to St, Paul. It is, however, as a great railroad focus that St. Paul is invested with her commanding commercial importance, for the railroad system of the entire northwest is tributary to her. Twelve great roads radiate from the city, and of these eight have their termini and headquarters here. Though there was not a mile of railroad in Minnesota prior to 1862, there are now over 3,000 miles. In 1879 about 600 miles were added to the system of Northwestern roads centering in St. Paul, while two of the distinctively St. Paul concerns were reorganized and strengthened. The Northern Pacific railroad located its operative headquarters in the city, and is erecting a large office for business and 2 extensive freight houses. Up to January 1, 1880, 584 miles of road had been completed; the company is now pushing ahead at the rate of a mile per day and this year will complete its eastern line to the Yellowstone river, about 225 miles beyond the Missouri.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Company has succeeded to the property and franchises of the St. Paul & Pacific companies, has completed the Alexandria line, built a branch line from Crookston across the Red River of the North to Grand Forks, which is to be continued westward across the wheat belt of Northern Dakota, in all 100 miles of road; built 56 sidings, 121 bridges and stations, and 49 elevators, including 1 at St. Paul, with a combined capacity of 1,016,000 bushels. The course of the road is, first from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Breckenridge, thence down the Red River Valley to St. Vincent, where it connects with the Winnepeg branch, continuing to Winnepeg, the flourishing capital of Manitoba, and thence to the projected crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Secondly, from St. Paul and Minneapolis up the Mississippi river to St. Cloud, thence across the State to a junction with the other line near Barnesville. Another branch is building from Sauk Centre south to Big Stone Lake.

The St. Paul & Duluth railroad, 155 miles from St. Paul to the rapidly expanding Lake Superior city, last year built a short line to Knife Falls, on the St. Louis, and thus opened up an extensive pine region whose products are now making it one of the greatest lumber carrying roads in the country. It connects with Minneapolis by its White Bear branch, has a branch from White Bear to Stillwater, and is building another from Wyoming to Taylor's Falls. The Chicago, St. Paul & Minneapolis Company has removed its terminal work from Hudson, Wis., to St. Paul. This road runs from St. Paul via Hudson and Eau Claire and the C. & N. W. Ry, to Chicago.

The Hastings & Dakota division of the C., M. & St. P. nominally extends from Hastings on the Mississippi to Ortonville on the western boundary of the State, at the foot of Big Stone Lake, but practically has its terminus in St. Paul via Farmington over the I. & M. division of the C., M. & St. P.

The St. Paul & Sioux City Company has, by purchase and construction, acquired a nearly complete line from Stillwater and River Falls to Omaha and the Niobrara. It is operating the W. & S. F. branch, 63 miles; the Blue Earth City branch, 34 miles; the Black Hills branch, the St. Paul, Stillwater and Taylor's Falls branch, 24 miles, and the Hudson & River Falls branch, 12 miles. It is pushing its lines forward with all speed from Sioux City, Iowa, to a junction with the Union Pacific Railroad at Omaha, westward from Sioux City up the Niobrara, and with the Black Hills division across Dakota to Deadwood, while the Blue Earth City division is being rapidly extended southward into the coal fields of Iowa.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis extends southward from Minneapolis and St. Paul to Forest City, Iowa, with a branch from Minneapolis to White Bear Lake. The main line is being pushed to Fort Dodge. The connecting line between Minneapolis and St. Paul is being pushed to Fort Dodge.

The Iowa and Minnesota division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, from St. Paul via Faribault, Owatonna, Austin and Prairie du Chien, to the State line and the river, or La Crosse division, have their Minnesota headquarters in St. Paul. The Chicago, St. Paul & Minneapolis furnishes an eastern outlet via Hudson, Eau Claire and the C. & N. W. to Chicago, while the North Wisconsin, one of its branches, is being pushed toward an outlet on Lake Superior, at either Ashland or Bayfield. This necessarily condensed survey of the railroad system of St. Paul may be made somewhat more complete by some freightage statistics. Unfortunately, at the time of writing, complete and detailed operations of all the roads are not obtainable. The figures given, though but partial, will serve to convey some idea of the extent of the city's trade as a distributing center:

RAILWAY FREIGHTAGE IN 1879.

A union passenger depot, to accommodate the huge passenger traffic, is one of the features of the year's business. St. Paul and Minneapolis have been dependent for their eastern outlet upon the C., M. & St. P., the C., St. P. & M., and the C. & N. W. Rys. It is now felt that the time has come for more extended transportation facilities. A new road is projected from the C., St. P. & M., at Chippewa Falls, which will give St. Paul an air line across Wisconsin to Oconto, opposite Green Bay and the Lake Michigan ship canal. A project is being considered by American and Canadian capitalists for building a railroad direct from St. Paul to Sault Ste. Marie, to connect there with a Canadian road to Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec. The present St. Paul system is completed by a number of local branches and feeders. In the words of a report of the Chamber of Commerce :

"Within a year one of the distinctively St. Paul roads has become one of the greatest of lumber carriers. Within the same time St. Paul has been placed in position to receive, handle and export the wheat crop of the New Northwest. A year from now it will be cheaply supplied with coal, as it is now with wood, and its facilities for obtaining the ores and metals of the Lake Superior mineral regions are unequaled. Three years from now it will be the collecting and distributing point for the largest lumber traffic concentrated at any one point in the world."

THE WHOLESALE TRADE

of St. Paul is a growth of the past dozen years or so. In that time the steady advancement of the city as a distributing point has been rapid. Ten years ago the trade was but $7,500,000 per annum. In 1879 243 wholesale houses, employing 1,927 hands, did business amounting to $37,000,000. Every branch of trade is represented in the city. Wholesale houses are beginning, as in New York and Chicago, to confine themselves to special lines of business, while the wholesale trade is being supplemented and increased by the extensive employment of trained and expert labor. Since the compilation of the figures from which the above total was taken, several new establishments have been added to the wholesale and jobbing trade of the city.

MANUFACTURES.

Space will not permit a detailed statement of the manufacturing interests of St. Paul. The total value of products of manufacture in 1879 was $8,967,200. There were, in July, 1880, 665 manufacturing establishments in the city, employing 6,911 hands, and operated by 1,314 horse power of steam. Among the great industrial enterprises are the St. Paul Harvester Works, whose output last year footed up $1,000,000; the St. Paul Plow Works, a young concern but one of brilliant promise ; the St. Paul Foundry and Manufacturing Company, engaged in constructing steam boilers, and about to add car works ; the vast car works of the various railroad companies ; and the great drug grinding and compounding works. Below are some figures taken from the statistical report :

Bookbinding and blank books, $47,000; boots and shoes, $534,850; book and job printing, $172,000; brewing and malting, $512,750; bridge building, $160,000; carpentering and building, $675,000; carriages, wagons, etc., $218,000; cigars, $285,000, confectionery, $295,000; crackers, $107,000; farm implements, $300,000; flouring, $615,000; foundries and machinery work, $322,000; furs, $78,000; harness, $149,000; clothing, $217,756; house furnishing, $119,000; chemicals and medicines, $127,000; tailoring, $327,000; millinery, etc., $135,000; publishing, $384,000; overclothing, duck goods, bags, etc., $619,000; pork and beef packing, $178,000; railway shop and yard work, $650,000; architectural iron work, $76,000; sash, doors and moldings, $87,000; soap, candles, lard oil, $152,000; steam boilers, $67,000; tin, copper and sheet iron working, $163,000. Three cigar factories, coffee and spice mills, a distillery and a saw-mill of 140 horse power, the whole employing 175 men, have been recently added to the manufacturing interests of St. Paul. The city requires furniture factories, as there is an unfailing supply of hard wood to be had. There is room for many specialties in the working of metals, for the investment of more capital in wagon making, and the manufacture of all kinds of agricultural machinery and implements, for stone and earthenware makers, for a refinery of amber cane products, for linseed oil mills, paper mills, flouring mills and lumber mills, in fact for the production of goods of every description, which can be sold in the West and Northwest.

The retail trade of St. Paul has shared in the general advancement of prosperity, and is constantly expanding. Accurate figures have not been collated as to the volume of business for 1879, but it has been estimated at $20,000,000. It is not confined to the city, but operates, by samples and orders, all over the Northwest.

LUMBER

is henceforward to play an important part in St. Paul's commercial economy. The lumber line formed in the fall of 1879, by the St. P. & S. C., the C., M. & St. P., and the Kansas City & St. Jo Rys, for the transportation of lumber, from its different seats of manufacture in Minnesota and Wisconsin, to Western Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, has its headquarters in St. Paul, and there is promise that the carrying out of its plans will make the city the center of a vast lumber trade. Last year an extensive sheer boom was constructed in the Mississipi opposite Upper St. Paul, capable of holding some 75,000,000 feet of logs. During the summer a sluice-way was constructed by the government at a cost of $10,000, to allow the logs to pass over the Falls without damaging the apron. During the present season this St. Paul boom is being put in operation as the receptacle of all logs seeking a market below the Falls, and several saw-mills are being constructed for the manufacture of lumber, an industry which St. Paul has heretofore lacked for a number of years.

The subjoined table will show at a glance the progress which St. Paul has made in the 10 years between 1869 and 1879:

	1869.	1879.
Population	19,000	55,000
Wholesale Trade	$ 7,500,000	$36,948,000
Manufactures	$ 2,375,000	$8,967,000
Railroad Freight, tons	75,000	710,500
River Freight, tons	62,000	12,415
Post Office, income	$30,000	$81,300
Banking Capital	$ 1,125,000	$2,523,000
Average Deposits	$ 1,400,000	$5,000,000
Exchange Sold	$16,600,000	$45,000,000
Personal Property, Assessments	$ 2,647,500	$5,491,026
Real Estate Assessments	$ 5,977,387	$17,300,486

To attempt anything like a detailed statement of St. Paul's financial, commercial and manufacturing interests, would require a volume, therefore we must generalize. Seven banks have a capital of $2,523,000, showing an average daily deposit of $5,000,000; sold last year $45,000,000 of exchange, and daily discounted an average of $4,500,000. Four grain elevators have a combined capacity of 2,358,000 bushels and others are being added. The 5 per cent. bonds of the city sell at par, and the city is worth $5,000,000 in money. She has 12 building associations whose members pay in $5,000 per month; she has 45 secret societies, 3 orphan asylums, 3 hospitals sustained at the public expense, 25 charitable and benevolent institutions, 15 clubs and societies, social, literary, artistic and library, and 3 Homes for friendless women. She is the headquarters of the Army of the Dakota, embracing half a dozen states and territories. She is the political capital of the State, and the government of the Union is there represented in the St. Paul custom house, internal revenue offices, district and circuit courts and detective service.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES.

In educational matters St. Paul takes a high rank. She has 12 public schools, among which the Jefferson, Lincoln, Madison and Franklin are three-storied structures, and the whole system will compare with that of any other city in the country. The Roman Catholic population do not send their children to the public schools, but to the parochial, of which there are a number. There are also Lutheran and private schools. The school roster stood as follows at the opening of the present year:

Hall's Patent Infallible Double Chronomentric Attachment Time-Lock, 46 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

C. B. THURSTON, Sole Ag't MILBURN WAGONS, Tiger Rakes, Randall Pulverizing Harrows, Triumph Seeders, Canton Plows, Buggies, etc., 18 W. 3d St., St. Paul.

Public schools	3,500
Roman Catholic schools	1,790
Lutheran schools	300
Episcopal schools	45
Private schools	250
Total	5,885

St. Paul has 50 churches, some of them being among the handsomest in the country. The Assumption church, Roman Catholic, is an immense and splendid edifice, which cost $220,000. The First Baptist church, built of pink Kasota limestone, cost $100,000, and is an architectural triumph. The House Presbyterian, Christ's and St. Paul's Episcopal churches are uncommonly fine structures, testifying to the large liberality of the congregations. The denominations represented by the churches are, Adventist, Baptist, Christian, Congregational, Episcopal, Evangelical, Hebrew, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Swedenborgian, Unitarian and Universalist.

THE PRESS.

So far as the daily newspaper press is concerned, St. Paul takes a high place. The Pioneer Press, published simultaneously in St. Paul and Minneapolis, is one of the great dailies of the Union, holding its own with the Chicago morning papers. The Globe and Despatch are enterprising and newsy sheets. The Volkzeitung is a daily and weekly German print. Other publications are the Daily Hotel Reporter, Deutsche Warte, weekly; Le Canadien (French), weekly; Minnesota Demokrat, weekly; Northwestern Chronicle, weekly; A. O. U. W. Monthly; Independent Farmer and Fireside Companion, monthly.

BUILDING

Has been going ahead in St. Paul at a surprising pace since the revival of business and prosperity. Few well-established business houses in the city which have not had to enlarge or put up new structures, and the business area is constantly swallowing up more and more intramural territory. The building operations of the present year are something stupendous. Six hundred and fifty-five new buildings were constructed last year. Among them were the 2 freight houses of the St. P., M. & M. Ry, each over 500 feet long, and an elegant 3-story building on the corner of Third and Wacouta streets. The St. P. & D. Co. commenced even more extensive premises on the opposite corner. The new market house on Seventh street, 280x80 feet, 3 stories high, was completed as to the superstructure during the season, and will be finished this year. The Sherman Block of 5 elegant stores, the Davidson Block, of the same proportions, the German American Bank, the Berkey, Willoughby, Schulte, Warm, and other business blocks, have enriched the business part of the city. Among the manufactories erected were Schurmeier's 3-story brick wagon and carriage factory, Crittenden's roofing works, McAffee's iron works, O'Leary's pork packing establishment, and additions to the St. Paul iron foundry, to the St. Paul manufacturing company's buildings, to the harvester works, plow works, railroad machine shops and other manufactories. Large numbers of costly private residences, costing from $15,000 to $25,000 have also been erected. The Sherman House has added a 4-story extension, St. Joseph's Hospital has erected a large additional building on its grounds, the German Lutherans have finished a 3-story school house in the upper part of Wabasha street, and the State Reform school has put up 3 large 3-story buildings.

Among the works undertaken this season is the Union Depot, to cost $100,000 for the main building, and about $350,000 including site and trackage. The Northern Pacific Railway has on hand a freight depot on Prince street over 1,000 feet long, and elegant headquarters on the corner of Fourth and Wacouta streets. The C., M. & St. P. is engaged upon a freight house 1,000 feet long on the river bank. The St. P., M. & M. is busily at work upon a passenger station, transfer house, round house, and other structures. The St. P. & S. C. Co. has transferred its mechanical headquarters to St. Paul, and is building extensive machine and car shops which will cover 40 acres.

CIVIC GOVERNMENT.

The civic government of St. Paul is vested in the hands of a mayor (William Dawson, Esq.) and common council, and the administration is marked by wise economy. The total indebtedness of the city is $1,519,310.71, mainly incurred for railroad bonuses and public improvements. The receipts of the city treasury, in 1879, from all sources were $448,508.62. The assessment on real and personal property—at about 40 per cent. of cash valuation—was, for 1879, $22,791,512. The tax levy for the same year was, according to the report of the comptroller, 7 $\frac{60}{100}$ mills. The total State, county, city and board of education levy was 13 mills. The paid fire department, of 43 members, is a very efficient one, and the police force is a well disciplined body.

AS A SUMMER RESORT

St. Paul has always been popular, especially to southerners, who are beginning to flock back as they did before the war.

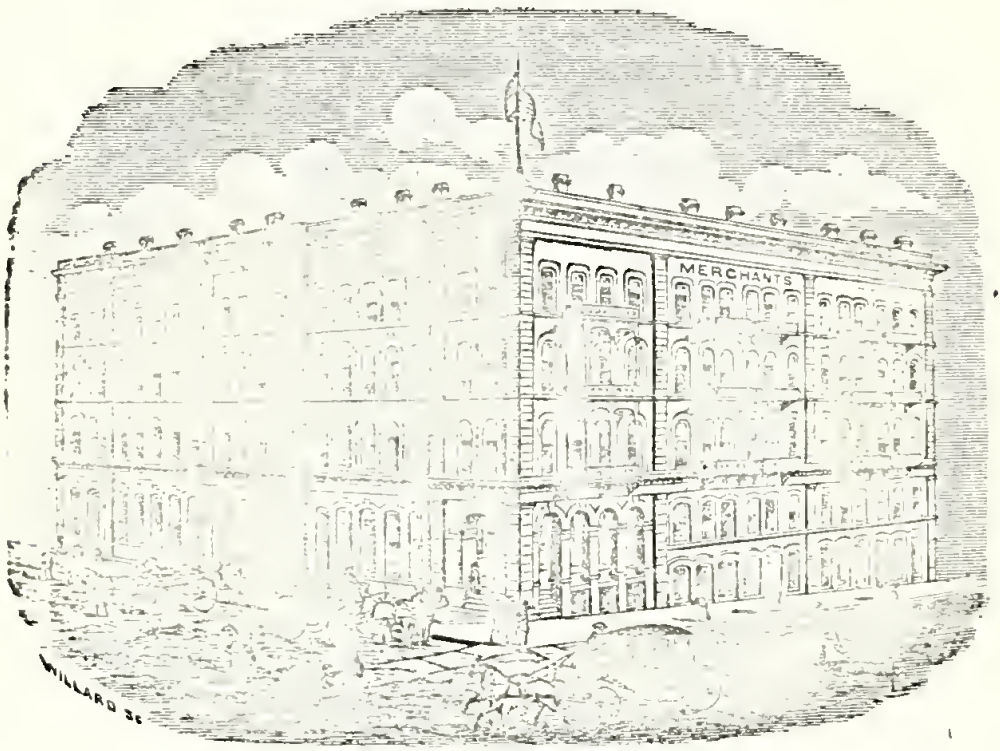
In truth, much of the early prosperity of the city was due to the fact of liberal investments being made by men who came for health and remained for business. First-class hotel accommodation keeps visitors in and near the city, and thus accustoms them to the regular sight of its prosperity and thrift. Special reference under this head may be made to the



MERCHANTS' HOTEL.

This house contains 200 rooms for guests, but it can reasonably accommodate 250 people. The building is heated by steam and supplied with gas. A passenger elevator connects with all the floors. The number of guests range from 100 and upward, daily, indicating an aggregate of about 35,000 yearly. It is but a block from the depot, and is the favorite resort for traveling men. The hotel is not surpassed this side of Chicago in its appointments, and it is safe to say by none in the United States for its capacity and pretensions. The proprietor, Col. A. Allen, has built up its patronage from a feeble beginning until it ranks to-day second to no similar enterprise in this country, as a steady, paying, well managed hotel. Its worthy head is as popular as is his house; is generous to a fault, social with all, and a liberal-minded, public spirited man. For a number of terms he has been alderman of the city of St. Paul, and for many years he has been prominently identified with her growth and prosperity.

Another famous hostelry is the METROPOLITAN HOTEL.

This hotel, of which Col. E. C. Belote is proprietor, is 80 feet on Third by 200 on Washington street, 100 on Fourth, five stories high, and contains 200 rooms, capable of accommodating 250 guests. It cost $150,000. The office is very large and airy, fronting on two streets, the floor being of beautiful marble tiles. It has a passenger elevator, hot and cold water on each floor, is heated by steam, and in fact is furnished with all modern hotel improvements. The proprietor, Col. E. C. Belote, is a whole-souled, genial gentleman, and entertains all guests in a princely style. The hotel is patronized extensively by tourists and travelers for pleasure. On its register will be found constantly names of famous and noted personages from all parts of the world.

—THE—

GALENIC MEDICAL INSTITUTE

Office, No. 45 East Third Street, up stairs,

Nearly opp. Pioneer Press Building, between Minnesota and Cedar Streets.

ESTABLISHED 1861.

For the cure of PRIVATE, NERVOUS and CHRONIC DISEASES, including Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Nervous Debility, Impotency, Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Diseases of Women, etc.

The physicians of this old and reliable Institute specially treat all of the above diseases—are regular graduates—and guarantee a cure in every case undertaken, and may be consulted personally or by letter.

NO FEE TILL CURED!

Sufferers from any of those ailments, before consulting others, should understand their disease and the latest Improved Treatment adopted at our Institute, by reading our books.

"THE SECRET MONITOR!"

AND GUIDE TO HEALTH.

A private Medical Treatise on the Diseases of the Urinary and Generative Organs, including Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Diseases of Women and their improved method of treatment, together with the Anatomy and Physiology of the Sexual System in health and disease, containing 300 pages and over 100 plates and engravings, sent to any address under seal, on receipt of price, 30 cents or postage stamps. Hundreds who have read this book, including Ministers of the Gospel, Professors of Colleges, teachers and scholars, have declared to me that if they had met with such a work in their younger days, it would have been worth thousands of dollars to them, in saving them years of ill health, mental anxiety and suffering.

N. B.—Observe this is not a vulgar, immoral or obscene book, but a strictly Medical Work, designed to warn and instruct.

A PRIVATE MEDICAL PAMPHLET,

Of 32 pages, on the above diseases, with valuable information for those afflicted, sent in a sealed envelope on receipt of one three-cent stamp. Circulars sent free. The physicians of the Institute especially treat all the above diseases, and may be consulted personally or by letter. Office hours 8 A. M. to 7 P. M., Sundays excepted,

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Give your name, post office, county, State, in each letter. Address all letters thus:

SAINT PETER.

The seat of Nicollet county, is an incorporated city of 3,000 inhabitants, at the junction of the W. & St. P. and St. P. & S. C. railroads, in the eastern part of the county, 75 miles distant from St. Paul. It is located on the Minnesota river, which is navigable for 100 miles beyond this point, and at one period was strongly urged for the capital of the State. The leading industries of the city are 2 steam flouring mills, 2 sash and blind factories, 1 fanning mill factory, 2 furniture factories, 2 grain elevators, 1 foundry and 4 breweries. STILLWATER.

The city of Stillwater, the lumbering centre of Minnesota, is pleasantly situated on the left bank and at the head of Lake St. Croix, 18 miles from St Paul. It is the seat of Washington county, and has a population of 10,059. The St. P. & D. and the St. P., S. & T. F. division of the St. P. & S. C. railroads run their lines into this city, giving it direct communication with the east via the C. & N. W. and the great lakes via Duluth, while a line to Hastings, already partly located, will give it commercial relations with the vast territory between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers by way of the H. & D. division of the C., M. & St. P. Ry. Stillwater was first settled in October, 1843, when Minnesota was yet a part of the territory of Wisconsin. The Stillwater Lumbering Company, composed of Elam Greely, Elias McKean and C. F. Leach, located the town site and erected a mill in the place. The village was platted and recorded in September, 1848, and incorporated as a city in March, 1854. It has now a fine county building, a city hall, a public library, 2 graded schools, and school property representing a cost of $100,000. The public schools employ 18 teachers, and are attended by some 1,000 pupils. The Lutheran and German congregations have parochial schools. The churches are Episcopal, Methodist, German Methodist, German Lutheran, Swedish Lutheran, Presbyterian, Congregational, Catholic and Universalist. The city has a large number of fine dry goods, hardware and grocery stores, together with a full representation of the various trades, professions and occupations. Three flouring mills, with a combined daily capacity of 700 barrels, furnish flour for home consumption and export. The State Prison is located here, and has upwards of 250 inmates, whose labor is let to contractors at 40 cents per day. Lumbering is, and has been, from the infancy of Stillwater, the principal interest of the place. Since 1856 over 2,500,000,000 feet have been shipped from here, going as far south as Texas, west to Salt Lake City, and largely meeting the wants of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Dakota. Nine saw-mills have a capacity of 125,000,000 feet annually. The largest lumber concern, that of Hersey, Bean & Brown, has a mile or more of lake frontage. One of their two immense saw-mills is run all the year round on long timber for railroad purposes. Their cut for 1879 was about 19,000,000 feet. The manufacture of threshing machines by Seymour, Saline & Co. is another great industry. They manufactured and sold 1,100 Minnesota Chief threshers in 1879, and their capacity for 1880 is 1,500. They employ 390 men, have the largest threshing machine factory in the world, and are about adding facilities for manufacturing portable steam engines. W. B. Hall & Co. have an important agency for Hale's wire band-cutter, Ashland's sack holder, the Nesmith grain register, and the Champion speed indicator. J. M. Burbridge, hat and clothing dresser, has an establishment of metropolitan completeness. W. S. Conrad's tobacco factory and warehouse is a prominent feature of Stillwater's business interests, while the Stillwater Lumberman faithfully and ably represents the staple trade of the place. The Lumberman's Steam Printing House is fully equipped with the most improved machinery and typographic material, and is prepared to execute orders of any dimensions for printing, ruling, blank book manufacturing and binding. The press is otherwise represented by the Gazette, Messenger and St. Croix Post, the latter the oldest and largest German paper in this part of the State. There are 5 hotels in the city, the Sawyer House being the most popular. The Lumbermen's National Bank has a capital of $150,000 and a surplus of $20,000. The First National Bank is another financial institution of the city. Stillwater saw $600,000 expended in building in 1879, and a larger showing is expected for 1880. The grain trade last year aggregated nearly 1,000,000 bushels, while the river traffic footed up 30,000,000 lbs. The steamboat interest aggregates more than that of any other city in the State. The total business of 1879 was near $10,000,000. Daily stage communication with every point in the county. Telegraph, Northwestern. Express, Am. and U. S. Daily mail.

WINONA.

The seat of Winona county, the "Gate" city of southern Minnesota, and the third city in population and commercial importance in the State, is situated on a beautiful level prairie on the west bank of the Mississippi river, was first settled in 1851, and was surveyed and laid out as a town in June, 1852. Upon the putting of the government lands into the market in 1855 it began its forward march, was chartered as a city in 1857, and has progressed steadily till its population, as now estimated, exceeds 11,000. The two great railroads of the Northwest, the C. & N. W. and the C., M. & St. P., center here, giving a double outlet to the products of the Northwest, and two direct lines to the east via Chicago. The W. & St. P. traverses the most fertile sections of southern Minnesota, and enters the vast wheat region of Dakota, having for its ultimate terminus Deadwood. The G. B. & M. Ry, traversing Wisconsin from east to west, gives an outlet by Lake Michigan to the Atlantic seaboard, and manages to keep transportation almost at water rates, besides giving ready access to the hardwood region of Wisconsin, a most important matter to Winona's manufacturing interests. The Mississippi river, at her very door, opens to her steamboat communication with the south and west, and completes a chain of unrivaled transportation facilities. Winona for years stood only second to Chicago and Milwaukee as a grain shipping port, in 1873 handling nearly 6,000,000 bushels. Though the method of distributing grain in elevators along the lines of the great railroads has apparently diminished this showing, the firms formerly bringing all their grain to the city handle substantially the same amount of wheat as in former years. In lumber the trade of Winona is immense. It is the outlet of the pineries of the Chippewa river. The Mississippi Logging Co. alone, in 1879, cut and bought 175,000,000 feet of logs. The supply of logs at Winona must be for years unlimited, and the trade bounded only by the enterprise and sagacity of its dealers. Two saw-mills at Winona now have an annual capacity of 60,000,000 feet, and there are, besides, other large lumber concerns, 4 planing mills and sash and door factories, all swelling the lumber interest to the value of $1,200,000 per annum. The flouring interests of Winona are growing with great strides. Their product now is about 175,000 barrels per annum, and 2 new milling concerns are going into operation. The combined capital of the 4 banks located here is $300,000. The press is represented by the Winona Republican, daily and weekly. The Herald and Democrat are weeklies, and the Adler is the only German paper in southern Minnesota. The schools of Winona have long enjoyed a high reputation. There are three public school buildings erectedat a cost of $130,000, and, under able management, giving instruction to nearly 2,000 pupils. The first of the three State Normal Schools is located here. It is magnificently housed in a structure which cost $145,000, and enjoys wide fame as an institution imparting a thorough training to teachers for every grade of school work. It has a fine library and well furnished reading room, the largest general museum in the west, a superb art gallery, and a large collection of physical apparatus. The faculty numbers 10 professors, tuition to both sexes is free, and the expenses of students are low. We present, on the next page, a handsome engraving of the institution. The Catholic and Lutheran churches maintain several denominational schools, and there also is a preparatory medical academy. Winona's public library contains 3,000 volumes. There are 14 regularly organized churches, of the Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Congregational, Baptist, Lutheran and Catholic denominations. There are Masonic, Odd Fellows, Druid, A. O. U. W., Father Mathew and various other secret benevolent and temperance lodges and societies in the city. Winona has city water works, an efficient fire department and police force, and is lighted with gas. The rate of taxation is about 1-5th of 1 per cent. and the total debt about $220,000.

The Winona Board of Trade is busily at work seeking to develop the manufacturing interests of the city. Through its exertions and by the raising of $30,000 stock, the Winona Rushford-Wagon Company's works were removed from Rushford into the city, and are now manufacturing at the rate of 1,200 wagons per annum. This company, of which H. M. Kinney is general manager, makes but one grade of farm wagons, the strictly first-class. Bohn & Wilce's lumber, sash, door and blind factory yearly turns out an immense quantity of work. The Gate City Carriage Works produce fine carriages and sleighs which have no superior, and make a specialty of ordered work and repairing. The Merchants' Bank, capital $100,000, is a solid and progressive financial institution. The Merchants' Hotel, J. Schweitzer, proprietor, is a comfortable and home-like house. The printing house of the Winona Democrat has complete facilities for every description of work known to the typographic craft. Otto Sontag is a heavy and enterprising dealer in grain, hides and wool. J. H.

Charles Hille, dealer in hides, wool and pelts, and S. C. White, wholesale grocer, occupy enviable positions in the commercial world. These are but a few of the business concerns of Winona, but they serve to indicate somewhat the extent of its importance as a commercial and manufacturing center.

Dakota Territorial Gazetteer

AND

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

FOR

1881.

In the following section of the work the cities, villages and postoffices of Dakota are arranged in alphabetical order, and a description is given of each place, with an alphabetical list of all persons doing business therein. In all the larger places the names have been procured by personal canvass, but in the smaller they have been furnished by postmasters. Great care has been taken to ensure correctness, as well as completeness.

The Territory of Dakota lies between the 42d and 49th degrees of north latitude, and the 19th and 27th degrees of longitude west from Washington, It is as large as the State of California, three times as large as Iowa, twice as large as the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and larger than the Republic of France. It embraces within its boundaries every variety of climate and soil. Classed as a prairie country, it is well wooded; the mighty Missouri traverses the territory diagonally from northwest to southeast, navigable for steamboats for the entire distance, while hundreds of smaller rivers and streams pour their waters into the great flood. The soil is principally a rich, dark loam, sometimes seven feet deep, apparently inexhaustible. Great valleys on either side of its rivers favor the cultivation of Indian corn and hay. Extensive tracts of table land of rolling prairie, the most prolific grain lands on the face of the earth, extensive plains and upland pastures covered with nutritious grasses offer fortunes to the stock raiser and the farmer, while in the depths of the Black Hills lies untold wealth in gold, silver and coal. These are but few of the characteristics of a favored portion of the American Union, which, but a few years ago, was regarded as a howling wilderness.

Dakota was organized as a territory by Congress in the winter of 1860–61, when her population was about 1,500. Indian raids and scares retarded settlement, but after 1865 the territory began to receive important accessions of individuals and colonies from the east, from Canada and from Europe. In 1872 the first railroad train crossed the border of Minnesota into the territory, over the line of the N. P. Ry. In the same year were built the first five miles of the Dakota Southern Ry, now the Sioux City and Dakota division of the C., M. & St. P. The crash of 1873 put a stop to railroad building in the territory, but settlement went on, and the world was made to know that the soil was of amazing productiveness. The revival of prosperity brought about a new influx of immigration of the most desirable character, railway building was taken up with vim and vigor, the discoveries of vast mineral wealth in the Black Hills gave the territory a world-wide fame, the establishment of the Bonanza farms aided the impulse, and, with one thing and another, in a single decade Dakota multiplied her population seven times, until now it numbers upwards of 135,000. Rival railroads are now piercing the Territory. The Northern Pacific traverses it from east to west, the St. P., M. & M. is throwing an important spur into the great wheat belt of the Red River Valley, the C., M. & St. P, and C. & N. W. are racing, as it were, to the Black Hills, and aiding wonderfully in the development of the southern and central portions of the territory. Immigrants are pouring into the country in a veritable flood. The population, as a whole, is drawn from the better classes of the New England and Middle States, of Canada, of Great Britain, Norway, Sweden and Germany. The boast of Dakotians that the society of their country is good, is a justifiable one. The schoolmaster moves simultaneously with settlement, and Dakota is well supplied with good schools.

For the rest, Dakota abounds in the useful minerals, as well as in precious deposits of gold and silver. Extensive coal beds, as yet undeveloped, have been found in Sully, Brule, Charles, Mix and other counties. Sandstone, limestone, granite and chalkstone, a soft but beautiful and useful stone, all used for building purposes, are plentiful. Salt has been discovered in the Red River Valley, while the more the Black Hills are explored the more does their varied mineral wealth appear. Timber abounds along the rivers and streams, and tree planting is a matter of no labor whatever. A few cottonwood slips or handsful of soft maple seeds scattered in the virgin soil will become a forest in a dozen years capable of supplying every want of timber to the settler. Water is everywhere obtainable at from 10 to 15 feet from the surface. Deer, elk and antelope, wild fowl and fish are abundant. The climate is about the same as that of Minnesota, Indiana, Northern Ohio and Northern Illinois, with this exception—the air is dryer and more bracing, with a greater average of sunny and a fewer of rainy days. With an enterprising and industrious population, Dakota promises in another quarter century to become one of the most important commonwealths of the Union.

BISMARCK.

The seat of Burleigh county, is an enterprising and growing city of 3,000 inhabitants, situated at the Northern Pacific crossing of the Missouri river, is the western terminus of the N. P. Ry, and the beginning of the Missouri division, which extends to the Yellowstone, and is being pushed forward at the rate of one mile per day. It is and has been since the earliest days a central receiving and distributing point, the region in which it is situated having been the great battle ground of the Sioux and the allied tribes of the Arneekaries, Gros Ventres and Mandans. When the Sioux conquered their weaker enemies they made Bismarck the gathering place for their annual sun dance and great festivals. When the Territory began to be settled Bismarck became the center of the great stage route to Deadwood, Keough, Yates, Abraham Lincoln, Buford and Mandan, and of the steamboat trade of the Missouri river. It now has 2 daily newspapers, 2 banks, 8 hotels—one of them, the Sheridan House, being the largest in the Territory—dealers in general groceries and merchandise, clothing and gents' furnishings, dry goods, boots and shoes, drugs and chemicals, furniture, lumber yards, bakeries, markets, flour and feed stores, flouring mill, wholesale liquor houses, breweries, blacksmith, wagon and gun shops, numerous saloons and places of amusement. There are Catholic, Presbyterian, Methodist and Episcopal churches. The public schools are graded in three departments, and the Benedictine sisters have excellent graded schools. A $25,000 fire-proof court house and jail is in course of erection. Five steamboat lines, controlling some 40 vessels, headquarter at Bismarck, and ply to Fort Benton, 1,200 miles above, on the Missouri, 300 miles on the Yellowstone from Fort Buford to Fort Keough, and 75 on the Big Horn from Fort Keough to Fort Custer. There are, beside, the Gen. Sherman, a government dispatch boat, the North Pacific transfer steamer, the steam ferry Union, the Eclipse and the Red Cloud. Daily stages run to Fort Benton, 340 miles, fare $40; Fort Buford, 250 miles, $25; Deadwood, 240 miles, $24; Fort Yates, 60 miles, $7.50; Mandan, 6 miles, $1, and Fort Abraham Lincoln, 5 miles, $1. Fully 2,500 teams are engaged in freighting from Bismarck to the Black Hills and other points. Trade of every kind is fully represented in Bismarck, and it is an excellent point for men with capital to place in lands and farming, etc. The surrounding country is among the richest in the Northwest. The great bonanza farms along the line of the N. P. Ry pour their produce through the city on its way to market. Burleigh county has 60,000 acres of timber and vast beds of coal which are now being actively and profitably worked. The total amount of tonnage, including grain, delivered for contractors on account of supplies for the Government was, during 1879, 133,687,483 lbs. The receipts for freight at the Bismarck office of the N. P. Ry averaged $75,000 per month. The steamboat freights of the year footed up in round figures 15,000,000 pounds. Bismarck is the headquarters of the United States military telegraph line, the officer in charge controlling 2,500 miles of wire. The United States Government offices located at Bismarck are those of Deputy Collector of Customs, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, Deputy U. S. Marshal, U. S. Land Office, U. S. Signal Station, and Depot Quartermaster. The Baby coal mine, 46 miles west of Bismarck, is putting out coal at the rate of 100 tons per day. Exports, wheat, furs, hides and coal. Express, N. P. Ry. Telegraph, Northwestern and U. S. military. Daily mails by rail and stage. Clement A. Lounsberry, postmaster.

DEADWOOD.

One of the most striking of the many evidences of rapid growth and development that are characteristic of this progressive age is a city of 6,000 population, dating its existence from 1877. It is located in the canyon of Whitewood creek, and is almost entirely shut in by hills of considerable altitude. The Deadwood of to-day, however, is a city that has sprung up, Chicago like, from the ashes of that memorable conflagration of the 25th of September, 1879, and is constructed in a much more substantial and tasteful manner than the original city, which was entirely composed of hastily constructed wooden buildings, designed solely for immediate occupancy, and without the least regard for style or permanence. During the present season, which has been one of marked activity in building, a large number of neat and substantial brick business blocks and other structures, public and private, have been erected, and various other improvements are rapidly being made. Besides the quartz mills, located in and around the city, there are 9 or more saw mills, 2 planing mills, a shingle mill, a feed mill, a brick yard, a brewery, and other industries. There are 5 churches, representing as many denominations; 4 graded public schools, having 8 teachers, and an attendance of 250 scholars; 2 banks, the First National and the Merchants' National, the former having a capital of $100,000 and a surplus of $20,000; a public hall with a seating capacity of 400; there are 6 good hotels and several first-class restaurants, Roberts & Rosebrough Bros. being the most popular of the latter. Four newspapers, having daily and weekly editions, are published. The city has a bonded indebtedness of $375,000 and an assessed valuation of property, real and personal, amounting to over $1.000,000. The amount of freight received last year (1879) by the three stage and express lines centering here, foots up 12,500 tons.

Deadwood is the county seat of Lawrence county, in the northwestern part of which it is located, 20 miles east of the line of Wyoming territory, 15 miles south of the Belle Fourche river, 50 north of Custer City, 225 southwest of Bismarck, and about the same distance from Sidney, Neb. and Cheyenne, Wyoming territory, from all of which places stages arrive daily. itants, the receiving and distributing center of the vast arable wheat region of the Red River Valley, a granary unsurpassed on the face of the earth. The city is pleasantly situated and substantially built, is governed by a mayor and common council, and has efficient fire and police departments. It has Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist and Lutheran churches, and district schools, a First National Bank, a Chamber of Commerce, a Library Association, a Bar Association, a Board of Underwriters, a daily newspaper, The Argus, a semi-weekly and three weekly newspapers, an opera house and a music hall. The United States and Territorial courts are held in Fargo. Last year 150 new buildings were erected at a cost of $250,000, among them an elevator of 140,000 bushels capacity. The U. S. land office in Fargo sold over 1,000,000 acres of land to settlers; $400,000 worth of agricultural implements were sold in the place; 51,000,000 lbs. of local freight were delivered to the merchants of the city, and 35,000,000 lbs. shipped east, while 20,000 cars were handled in the yard of the N. P. Ry within the city limits. The hotels of Fargo, notable among which is the Headquarters, the largest in the territory, and the leading hostelry, have been doing a driving business, as the rush toward the fertile lands of the west has increased travel to an unprecedented degree. All trains arrive and depart from the Headquarters, under whose roof are the telegraph, ticket and express offices of the N. P. Ry. Fargo enjoys the advantages of steamboat communication with all points on the Red River, and does an extensive business with Manitoba. Exports, wheat, oats, barley and vegetables. Daily stage to Pembina, 120 miles, fare $13; tri-weekly to Breckenridge, 50 miles, $3; semi-weekly to Bonnersville, 62 miles, $4. Three mails by rail daily. Edward A. Grant, postmaster.

SIOUX FALLS.

The seat of Minnehaha county, is a city of 2,500 inhabitants, which a few years ago was a mere Indian trading post. The rush of settlers to Dakota made it a village of 500 souls; in 1878 the S. P. & S. C. Ry pushed out a spur from Worthingham, and now the city is an important point on the Pembina branch of the S. C. & D. division of the C., M. & St. P., the W. & S. F., the S. M., the Dubuque & Dakota and the Ackley and Sioux Falls branch of the I. C. Rys. It is situated on the S bend of the Big Sioux river, which gives 30 miles of valley in the limits of a single township. The Falls are within half a mile of the business center of the city, and in power are only second to those of St. Anthony in Minneapolis. Their supply is constant the year around, and their beauty bewitching, falling over rocks of syenite and bordered by the dense primeval forest. The Sioux Falls Water Power Improvement Company (capital, $400,000, paid up) has just completed an immense stone mill, 80x100 feet, 7 stories high, at a cost of $120,000, and with a capacity of 1,000 barrels of flour per day. The company's improvements on the Falls when completed will give a head of 70 feet and 1,200 horse power. Six other water powers exist within three miles, and a company has been organized, with a capital of $500,000, for the purpose of utilizing 100,000 acres of adjacent water power land and quadrupling the present power. Besides the new "Queen Bee" flouring mill just mentioned, there are 2 other very large flouring mills in the place. There are wagon factories in the city, hotels, general stores, groceries, dry goods stores, boot and shoe stores, hardware stores, millinery stores and several machine shops. The Dakota and First National banks have been chartered and gone into operation. The churches are Congregational, Methodist, Episcopal and Catholic; the graded school building cost $16,000, and there are several others of less cost. The society is good; there are several literary, reading, book and art clubs, the wide streets and highways afford fine drives, and the place is becoming a favorite resort for tourists, sportsmen and health seekers. There are 4 newspapers, the Pantagraph, Independent, Times and Scandinavian. Flax, paper and sorghum mills, creamery and boot midst of a prairie country, yet surrounded on every side by gently sloping hills. Its environment is enviable; around it on three sides are the fertile upland prairies of the county to which it gives its name, while southward, across the river, in Nebraska, stretches the broad valley of the Missouri, and back of this again, the rolling lands of Cedar county. All this vast territory, filling up with astounding rapidity, is tributary to Yankton, a city whose civilization is mainly of New England origin. It is the seat of the territorial government, U. S. law and land offices, and the residence of the Governor, chief justice, territorial secretary, and all their assistants. It is the rendezvous of the fleets of steamers plying the upper Missouri river. It has Congregational, Catholic, Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, German Baptist, German Reformed and Lutheran (2) churches, a number of public schools, first-class hotels, social, benevolent and fraternal organizations, many elegant stores and private residences, 2 banks, the First National and the bank of Yankton, several steam flouring mills, a hay-twisting machine (for fuel) factory, agricultural implements works, 2 boot and shoe factories, and a full representation of all the leading trades and professions. The Daily Press and Dakotian, the weekly Herald and the Freie Press are published here. The recent consolidation of the D. S. Ry with the C., M. & St. P., furnishes Yankton with the outlet to all the markets of the south and east, while the Missouri river supplies the place of a railroad to the west. The construction of a railroad up the valley of the James (Jim or Dakota) river, is one of the events of an early future. Taxation in Yankton is 16 mills on the dollar. Yankton county is a fine agricultural and stock raising region, and is becoming densely populated. Stages run from Yankton to all points in the county, and the city is the postal focus of a large part of southern and southeastern Dakota. Express, Am. Daily mail. A. H. Howard, postmaster.

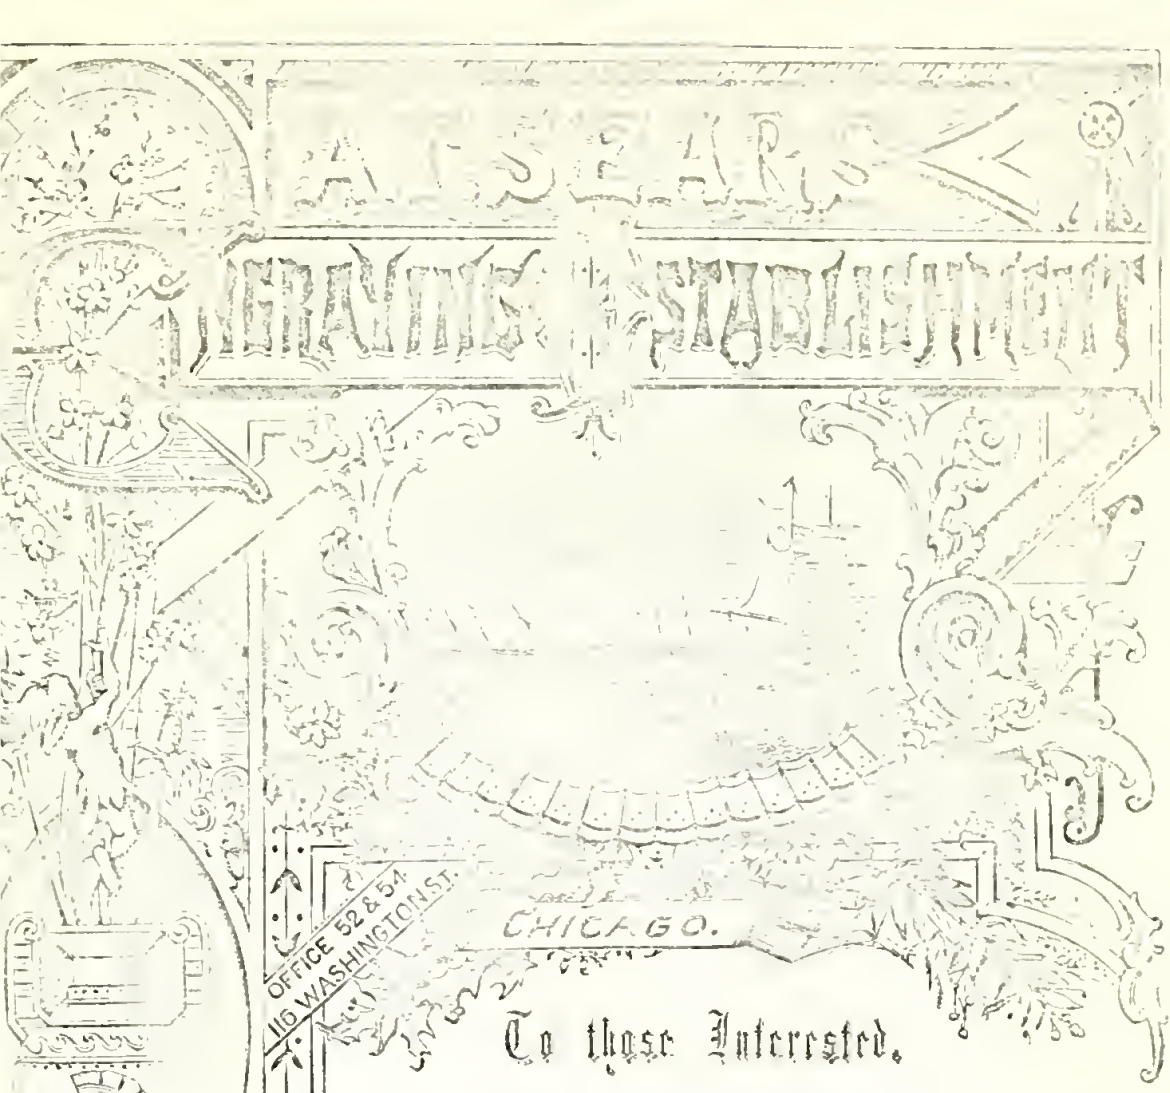
ENGRAVING ESTABLISHMENT



OFFICE 52 & 54 116 WASHINGTON ST.

CHICAGO.

To those Interested.

I have made the execution of First Class Engraving the leading characteristic of my establishment, and shall continue so to do. I can with justice guarantee entire satisfaction to my patrons, having been educated at the publishing house of HARPER BROS., New York, in every detail of my business, adding thereto practical proficiency.

I can safely assert, no other engraving establishment in the west can equal the advantages I am enabled to offer, by means of my extensive and special facilities for the execution of all classes of engraving—Mechanical, Scenery, Implements, Colored Work, &c., &c. My assistants are experts in superior engraving. I employ none but eminently qualified and accurate artists, whom I send to any part of the country on application. Prices always reasonable.

Soliciting patronage, sincerely,

A. T. SEARS.

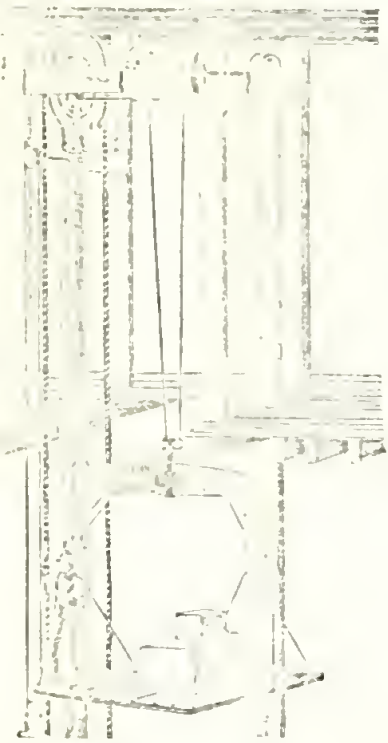
JOHN KENNEDY,

MANUFACTURER OF

Improved Hoisting Machines



BASEMENT ELEVATORS,

—AND—

DUMB WAITERS,

188 and 190 Ohio St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Capacity, from - - - 1,000 to 3,000 Pounds.

This Cut represents my CENTRE LIFT ELEVATOR, with two independent Wire Cables, which winds from the ends to the centre of a Spiral-Grooved Hard Wood Drum, thereby doing away with the friction of the platform on the Guide-Posts. A similar Drum is placed on the end of the Shaft for Counterpoise weight. It runs easily, the platform being held under perfect control by my New Patent Screw Brake, and is a first class machine in every respect. Can be fitted with Iron Guides for Safety Appliances, or Hard Wood Strip Guides, as parties may elect. Patented October 13th, 1874

Hall's Patent Infallible Double Chronomentric Attachment Time-Lock, 46 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

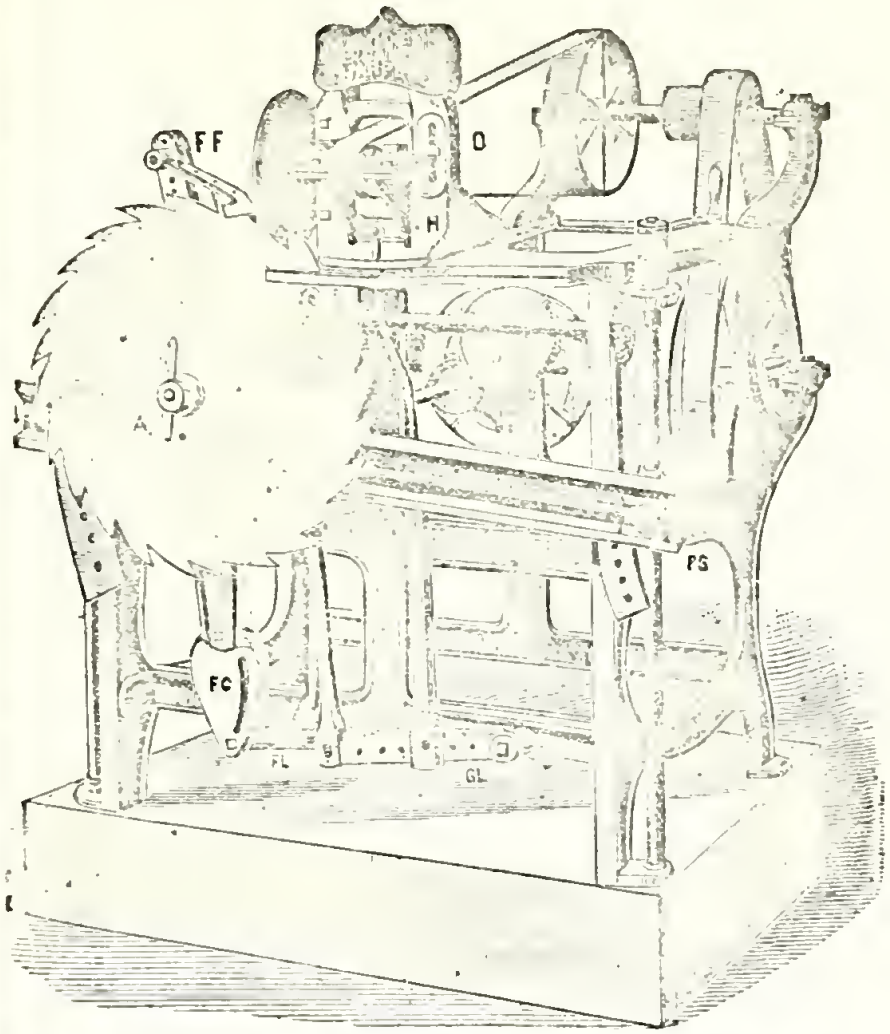
M. COVEL'S

Patent Automatic



AW SHARPENERS,

259 Randolph Street,

CHICAGO ILLINOIS.

PARTICULARS, CIRCULARS, PRICE LISTS and TERMS, address as above.

M. COVEL'S SAW SHARPENER.

Is the most perfect machine that has ever been placed in a m[ill] purpose, and is acknowledged as such by every unprejudiced man th[at] used them. This machine has gained a reputation that no other m[a]. There are more of them in use in Muskegon, Michigan, than any other k[ind] one place in the United States.

The following is what I claim for them : Its use dispenses with gummi[ng] ing. It saves the expense of files as no filing is necessary. The machine saw ready to be hung upon the arbor. It leaves the saw round and in perfe[ct] Every tooth is dressed after a form, and therefore they are all alike. T[he] can be of any desired shape ; the teeth can be either square or pleghin, given any desired hook. Lead can be given the saw from the top, the b[ack] both, as may be wished. Saws sharpened on this machine can be from tw[o] gauges thinner, and stands more feed than those sharpened in an[y] way. It will leave a fine polished edge upon the tooth. Saws sha[rp] this machine hold the edge longer than any other way. Where steel [is] with emery, the surface is harder and more compact, although not case[-] but sufficiently to make the edge wear longer. It is impossible for any o[ne] understand the benefit to be gained by the use of this machine without tr[y].

I do not wish to impose upon mill men by representing a machine to [do] will not do all I claim, nor do I expect every man will order a machi[ne] should it would be impossible to fill their orders, but there are a few th[at] excel in their business, and such men are the ones that I expect orders fr[om] that favor me or my agents with their orders, I will fully satisfy them of [my] claim, or no sale.

The following testimonials are from some of the mill owners of Muskegon, w[ho] number of them have been introduced, which fully substantiate all that I claim

MUSKEGON, June [illegible]

M. Covel, Chicago, Ill.

DEAR SIR :—The saw sharpener which we have in use at our mill does its work well, and w[e] a saving to us of $6.00 per day in labor and files. We are now running thirteen gauge saws in carry three-quarter inch feed, and have two more saws in the gate than when we began using [it]

Yours truly, HACKLEY, McGORDEN

MUSKEGON, April [illegible]

M. Covel, Chicago, Ill.

DEAR SIR :—The two sharpeners manufactured by you for us, are the only sharpeners that we found. They more than take the place of files, keeping our saws in perfect condition. We th[ink] would be without them after using them. Respectfully yours, RYERSON, HILL

MUSKEGON, July [illegible]

M. Covel, Chicago, Ill.

DEAR SIR :—We cut 180,000 feet of lumber per day during the running season, using two [in a] gang. Have had two of M. Covel's patent saw sharpeners in use nearly a year. Never used a [file] and they run better and will last twice as long. We save the time of two men with this saw [and] the only one we have ever seen. Yours truly, TORRENT & ARMS LUMB[ER] CO.

MUSKEGON, July [illegible]

M. Covel, Chicago, Ill.

DEAR SIR :—Our saw sharpeners are doing well. Our saws will last a year longer than if [we] and we cut 5,000 feet more lumber per day and do the work better. We would not do wi[thout] our mill, and think they make a saving to us in saws, labor and files of at least $10 per day. Our cut is 150,000 feet throughout the season. Have two circulars and a gang.

Truly yours, HAMILTON, GERRISH [&] CO.

M. Covel, Chicago, Ill.

MUSKEGON, [illegible]

DEAR SIR :—Your automatic saw sharpener works well and gives good satisfaction. We [save] in labor and files.

Yours, &c., C. DAVIS

Covel, Chicago, Ill.

MUSKEGON, July [illegible]

DEAR SIR :—I have one of your saw sharpeners working on sixteen gauge gang saws with [the] eights of an inch apart, and I think it works splendidly. It has given good satisfaction, [is] length and gummed, ready for work at all times. I think no mill man would be without [one]

(OVER) Yours respectfully, T. S. TAL[BOT]

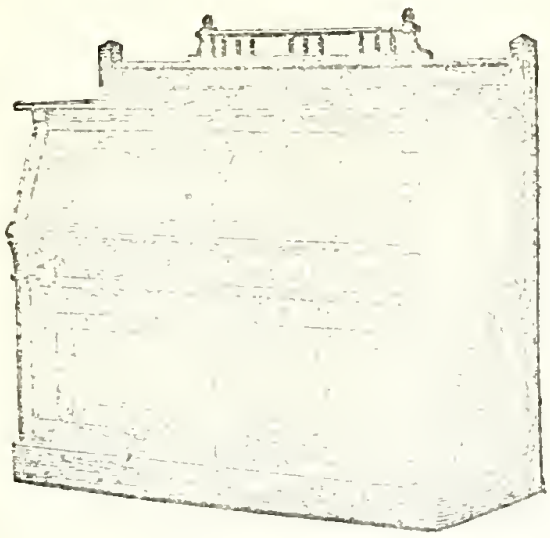
The Burr Patent Parlor Folding Bed!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

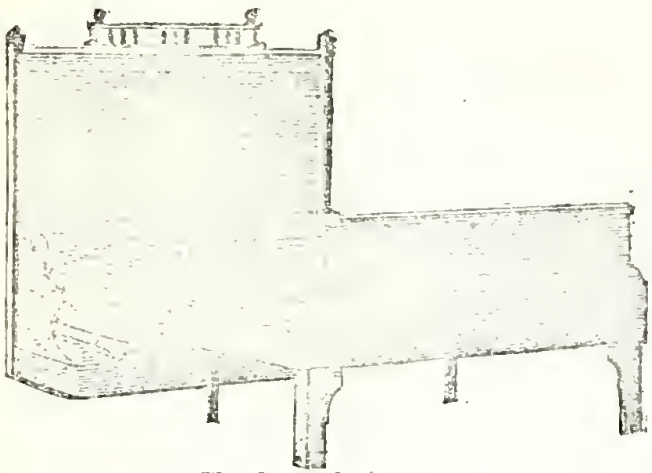
A. H. Andrews & Co.,



The Burr Bed Folded.

A good Folding Bed has long been called for. The Burr Bed is the result of many years study and experiment; it received the only Silver Medal ever given in the United States for a Folding Bed.

These Beds fold into Secretaries, Bookcases, Wardrobes, etc., so that no one would suspect they were beds.



The Burr Bed Open.

They save room and rent in many cases, as they can be placed in sitting room or parlor, or can be rolled from one room to another.

They have Steel Spring Mattrass which folds up with all the bedding after bed is made up.

The Bed is perfectly ventilated, and in all respects guaranteed satisfactory.

Q. What ails Antonio? How tired he looks! "No sleep!" How so? 'Twill grieve our host to hear't.

A. Why, then, twixt you and me, to sleep on sticks or stones, cobs, ropes or paucity of straws, were not within my line; comprenez vous?

Q. Oui; But to speak the truth my heart me stirs; Woulds't thou to-night find rest, go sleep on Burr's.
